

Hi! I'm Zac Anger.

(I PROMISE NOT TO SAY 'I MAKE THINGS.')

I'm a 20-something guy from the East Coast (Baltimore born, Pennsylvania raised). I've been an active musician since childhood, performing and recording in local, regional, and national groups. In recent years I've had the good fortune to work with Sugo Music Group, though I have a habit of releasing my music for free for a time before sending it off for commercial distribution.

I have a passion for technology. I'm a FLOSS supporter, Linux user, and general web enthusiast. My interests are fairly wide-ranging, from software minimalism and adherence to the UNIX philosophy, to security, browser development, user experience and usability design, development-related humour, education, and sometimes even straight up code.

If it's projects you want, I really suggest heading over to my Github, my Devpost profile, or even my info on NPM. Failing that, I do have one of those, too.

I keep a brief CV updated in a few formats: HTML, Markdown, JSON, Python, and PDF.

I like to write sometimes, and you can catch that here, here, here, or even here.

Oh, and you can always hit me up, if you want, by email or @zacanger.
